The People of the State of New-York,

By the Grace of GOD Free and Independent:

To Samuel Caldwell Gentlman

GREETING.

WE, reposing especial trust and confidence, as well in your patriotism, conduct and loyalty, as in your valour and readiness to do us good and faithful service, HAVE appointed and constituted, and by these presents, DO appoint and constitute you the said Samuel Caldwell Second Lieutenant of the Company of Militia in the Brigade of Militia in the County of Washington, whereof John Williams Esquire is Brigadier General.

YOU are therefore, to take the said Company into your charge and care, as Second Lieutenant and duly to exercise the Officers and Soldiers of that Company in Arms, who are hereby commanded to obey you as their Second Lieutenant and you are also to observe and follow such orders and directions, as you shall from time to time receive from our General and Commander in Chief of the Militia of our said State, or any other your Superior Officer, according to the Rules and Discipline of War, in pursuance of the trust reposed in you: and for so doing, this shall be your commission, for and during our good pleasure, to be signified by our Council of Appointment.

IN TESTIMONY whereof, we have caused our seal for military commissions to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS, our truly and well beloved

John Jay

Esquire, Governor of our State of New-York, General and Commander in Chief of all the Militia, and Admiral of the Navy of the same, by and with the advice and consent of our said Council of Appointment, at our City of Albany, the twenty third day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety six, and in the thirtieth year of our Independence.

Given under great Seal of our Independence.

Passed the Secretary's Office, the 27th day of April 1797

INTRODUCTION

There are several histories of the "Caldwells in America", but these records are the first published of the "Londonderry, New Hampshire Caldwell's."

The story is well known of the Scotch people who settled for a time in the north of Ireland where they fought for their lives and their religion. The long conflict destroyed all vital records.

When in 1718 these hardy Scotch began a settlement in New England they recorded very little of the data that would be of untold value now.

Many of the "Caldwell" name landed on our shores from 1718 to 1800 and settled in the various eastern states. They were neighbors in Ireland, but we have found it difficult to prove relationship even among the early generations in New England. The practice prevailed for two generations of bestowing the same Christian names on the children of the various families; this recurrence of names created much confusion.

In the early Court records we find the interesting custom of designating men by the titles of "Gentleman, Yeoman, Husbandman, and Labourer." In the records of "Joseph Caldwell" whose history follows, the title of "Gentleman" clearly indicates education and refinement.

The story as given by Mrs. Hannah Eayres Barron, a descendant, makes Joseph's birthplace in Scotland, removing early in life to Ireland, where he married and where his children were born; the year of birth or that of coming to New England we may never know.

The first record of Joseph is that of a petitioner, December 1, 1726 for the Charter of Colrain, N. H. Although this petition was signed by many residents of Portsmouth and Londonderry, men of prominence and influence in State affairs, it seems not to have been granted. From the time of landing until 1742, Joseph lived in Portsmouth, spending much of his time in Nottingham West and Londonderry with his children.

"Dame Eliza Vaughn, Widdow" of Portsmouth, attached goods of Joseph in 1739 in a suit for one thousand pounds, in which she states "That the defendant hired for 45 pounds per year, the farm adjoining "Major Vaughn's Brick house farm-- the rent to be paid in even and equal proportions, but defendant has not paid, hence this action."

In the year 1736 Joseph and his son John, and James Wason bought 190 acres for 295 pounds at Nottingham West, from Patrick Fisher, James McKnight and John Rapde. This was on a slightly elevation called "Bush Hill" (it has been suggested that the correct name should be "Bush Mill" after the village in Ireland). They made other purchases in this locality up to 1742 when a little unpleasantness in Portsmouth caused Joseph to change his residence to Bush Hill. The trouble in Portsmouth was over his appointment in March 1742 as Constable, which not being to his liking, he "declared he would not serve, but dispute it at the Sessions"; the Selectmen sought to force him to take the office and because he did not take the required oath for the office and refused to pay the fine for refusing to take the oath, their efforts were futile.

A Conveyance by Joseph to his son Joseph in 1747 reads, "In consideration for the love and good will I have for my son Joseph Jr., I convey 47 acres, being the one half of my dwelling house and barn with all the improvements."

In these early days, the attempt to make Presbyterians pay the rates for support of a Congregational Church caused much trouble; in one such case, the officer notes, "Joseph is taxed 5 pounds 2 shillings 4 pence and that for want of Goods of the said Joseph Whereon to make Distress to Levy the said sum I have taken the Body of Said Joseph & committed him to His Majesty's Goal in Portsmouth--Joseph pays."--

The final record of Joseph occurs on June 3, 1757, when his wife Jeanet and his son Joseph join with him in conveying the homestead to the son John--52 acres for 200 pounds;--this is the only record of the wife Jeanet.

Joseph undoubtedly died soon after but no marked stone indicates his resting-place.

John² are as follows. John and his brother Alexander, both of Portsmouth bought 81½ acres of land on "Mouse Hill", Londonderry (this is but a short distance from the Derry railroad Station) from William and Margaret Bayres; this was sold in 1733 to John Mack.

John and Alexander bought in 1733 land of John and Mary McMurphy (called George Jaffery land), also ½ Pew in Meeting house.

Land at "Bush Hill" Nottingham West was bought by John and his father (Joseph) and James Wason on Dec. 14, 1736. This tract was later divided. John held various town offices and was highly esteemed by those who came in contact with him. A regiment of 800 on an expedition to Canada in March 1760 included John among the Nottingham West men. He also served in the French and Indian War. The homestead of John and Isabella was deeded to Joseph⁵ the youngest son in 1792.

also in Capt. Abraham Perkins' Co. and same regt. 1776-7, marched to Ticonderoga Feb. 1777 in Col. Dames' regt. 1779 at Portsmouth.

The first records of Alexander are found on Oct. 13, 1731 when he bought land of W^m and Margaret Bayres, Londonderry, on "Mouse Hill"---- 1735 he deeded same to his brother John; 1733 he bought from John and Mary McMurphy 50 acres of "George Jaffery land" and $\frac{1}{2}$ pew in church; 1733 he bought of John and Jean Anderson land, buildings, and pew in church at Londonderry; this land was in the English Range north of "Beaver Pond" and $\frac{1}{3}$ of the original lot was a short time previously bought and sold by a William Caldwell who does not seem to have been related. Alexander and Margaret sold the Anderson land in 1743. Other purchases were in Dover and Rochester 1749-1760-2. Volume 51 of the "New England Hist. and Gen Socy." gives a very interesting account of Alexander's return to Portsmouth after a visit to Ireland in 1737. Alexander is mentioned as Shopkeeper in Portsmouth 1743 to 9. After his removal to Dover and at his death he was often mentioned as "Captain". David and Mary MacGregore deeded Sept. 12, 1748 to Alexander land and buildings in Portsmouth (formerly belonging to James Boyd, Shopkeeper) on highway leading to Islington, also on High Street. Boyd was related to Alexander's wife.

Joseph's early life was spent in Portsmouth, London-derry and Nottingham West, until 1752 when he bought of John White land in Peterborough, N. H. He was a teacher in the latter place and a man of great ability and in all records he is called "Gentleman".

Joseph together with Thomas Cunningham, William McNee, John Taggart, John Swan Jr., and James Taggart having petitioned for a Charter of the Town of Thornton sold out their rights in 1767 to Matthew Thornton for 4 pounds 10 shillings. Joseph sold his homestead in Peterborough Dec. 15, 1768 to W McNee of Dublin (so called). The description is "100 acres being the Farm whereon I now live and bounded west by County Road, north by land of John Swan, east by Thomas Turner, south by town line in southerly part of Peterborough." From Colerain, Mass. Oct. 19, 1769, Joseph sold to Roger Gillmore No. 14, 6th range Monadnock, No. 2 for L53-13s-4 pr. also in 1768 land in Peterboro Slip (Sliptoun) to John Thorn for L30.

Colerain records state that Joseph was the first Representative to the General Court in 1775. He was Selectman in Colerain 1770-2-3-4. Just what year he went to Cambridge or Kingsbury, N. Y. is not known. He was Supervisor of the Town of Kingsbury 1786-8. At the beginning of the Revolutionary War Joseph was an Ensign in Colonel Matthew Thornton's Regiment. In the New York military records, under date of June 27, 1783, he is Lieutenant Colonel

His military services found in the N. H. State records, original muster rolls of Revolutionary War service are as follows.

"In Capt. Samuel Greeley's Co. of minute men raised in Hudson on the 19th of Apr. 1775 and Marched same afternoon.

for Lexington; at Chelmsford, Mass. they heard the British had retreated so the Co. returned home; there were 60 men from Hudson. On the Ticonderoga Alarm in 1777 Alexander was in Capt. James Ford's Co. 8 days service, 90 miles travel pay L5-1-6.

There were two attempts to reach Ticonderoga; the first time they reached Dublin, N. H., where an Express ordered them home, arriving July 5th and on the 6th being ordered out again, they marched as far as number four, where Col. Ashley informed them of the evacuation of the "Fort". Administration of Alexander's Estate 1825 mentions heirs.

23 John³ Caldwell--Alexander²--Joseph¹

born 1739-40

died

married 1760-3 to Janet daughter of W^m Jr.

and Jeanett (Caldwell) Bayres.

Children

95 John⁴ b. 1763-4 living in 1777

mentioned in 1788 as a seaman.

96 Alexander b. 1765-6 living in 1777.

It seems probable that John's mother, Cristine (McMurphy) died at the time of his birth, as his grandparents brought him up until the death of John McMurphy when his Uncle Matthew Patten of Bedford was appointed his guardian in 1756. This was cancelled in 1760, May 22.

The first deed signed by John was of Derryfield land Aug. 22, 1760; later he deeded land in Chester and New Chester (Hill) all received from his grandfather's Estate. John sold to Major Robert Rogers (lately commanding one of his Majesty's independent companies at New York) in 1764 "all my right by Means of my Name being inserted in the charter for Dunbar, Vt." In 1788 all interest in his father's land in Londonderry was conveyed to W^m Bayres 3rd. He is sometimes mentioned as Gentleman, at other times as Saddler (W^m Bayres 3 was a Saddler) and was often before the courts for financial difficulties. W^m Bayres 3rd was appointed guardian 1778 of John⁴

Dear Sister and Niece

I received a letter from your self and Clarissa which informs us you are all enjoying your usual state of health and a comfortable living which I am very happy to hear we are likewise enjoying the same great blessing my health is as good as usual though not verry good at the best the rest of the family are well. We were at Canton not long since. Theadore and family were well their little son grows verry fast. Samuel was here last winter after Mr. Haley came home and mad us a visit we have heard from him once since he is still living at the bend and remains steady he thought when he was here he should visit his friend at Colrain by another winter. Martha Ann was here a few weeks ago with her little Daughter six months old she lives near the Citty of New York her husband did not come with her she think she has a first rate husband and enjoys herself very well her little Daughters name is Adelle she wished to be remembered to her friends at Colrain and in particular to Eleanor. Mr. Haley received a letter from Theadore a few days ago he is living at Wattertown. You wrote me you thought Alcesta had married well which I am verry glad to hear. I think often about you all altho I am negligent about writing I think your situation must be verry lonely. You wrote Sister Shearer had been verry sick which I was verry sorry to hear.

You likewise wrote, Mrs. McClelen and William had been to visit you I should be verry glad to see them and likewise all your friends at Colrain but do not know when I shall see any of you unless you come where I am. Sister Harriet speak often of going to Colrain and I think if Theodore thought it prudent to go they would visit you before long Mr. Haley says I may go when they do. If Asad and wife should visit you this fall please tell them it will not be out of their way to call upon us and we should be happy to see them.

Pleas except this in return for yours and ⁷Carissas letter and if you knew how great a task it was for me to write you would excuse me for not writing oftener. Give my love and Mr. Haleys likewise to your family and all of our friends and accept of it yourselves. I remain as ever your affectionate sister

 after we came here his health has been very good since he has heard every thing from Edwin we come here except by John C. McDaniel he informs us you were all well & I feel very anxious to hear from you and still more anxious to see you all I find that we know not how to prize the society of friends and acquaintance until deprived of them the society here is comprised of all kinds of people which unless ~~it is~~ is unpleasant they are French Dutch Irish and English altho the most of them are from Vermont
 I like the place as well as I expected and have been tolerably well contented we have all the comforts of life and good health which is the greatest of blessings we have kept a dairy of eight cows ^{this season} which I have taken care of and done my other work without a day's help girls are plenty ^{here} but I have not seen any that I wanted

we have quite a pleasant situation and have a pleasing prospect of the Connecticut river lying before us which is thought will soon be improved, our river affords a plenty of fish and our forest a plenty, does this thought do to a fine country.
 Mr. Bailey thinks he has raised as much from this farm as he could from one twice as large in your country & think Mr. Shewers and Mr. Gay cannot do better than to come here and then look for them until we are tired and have given up seeing of them. Samuel is living, with us the girls are to inform you he is in good health and spirits. Theodore's health is as good as usual he has been somewhat perplexed about a debt of Mr. Booth's which is not yet settled he has sold his farm and now lives in the village.
 Delina's health is about the same that it was when in Philadelphia she has been somewhat troubled with being homesick the like as well as she expected she often speaks of wanting to see the people at Philadelphia and Colrain she requested me to remember her to you all still. However I had not thought of being homesick until I heard of her. I was at school in Philadelphia it brought to mind the many hours we spent together there and almost I could recall them till Sophia I was somewhat surprised to see her marriage in our paper and hope we shall see her and Mr. Stanley in this country when I consider upon the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death I think it is not probable I shall ever see you all in this side of a lowland's eternity but hope we shall all be so close as to meet in another and better world where parting will be no more.

Mr. H. H. H. is remembered to you all and please accept my best wishes for you all. This letter I have delayed for all of you hope to receive an answer from all to not delay writing as I have write soon and with all particulars. I remain yours affectionately

Wister (Clarissa H. H.)

P.S. I had now Mr. L. I have one request to make that is if it is consistent with your feelings to part with Clarissa and she should have an opportunity of coming to live with us we should be very glad to have her as I think you have girls enough and we not any

 I am here in good health but my back is so lame that I am unable to work give my compliments to all married May 10, 1870 Sarah Simmons.

One son was born to them to be a joy and comfort for the brief period of six and one half years.

Wherever the ancestors of Theodore Sr. have left any records, it has been evident that they lived up to high ideals, and whether in church or town affairs or the home life, they showed firmness and insistence on what they believed to be right. Theodore Sr. inherited all the good traits of his ancestors and "St. Lawrence University" owes much of its success to him. His wife was of equally strong traits and a worthy help mate. Charles and Theodore Jr. were in business with the father during his life, when Charles became Sheriff for St. Lawrence Co. and Theodore continued the business.

CONTRIBUTION TO THE HISTORY OF LONDONDERRY,

NEW HAMPSHIRE

By Hon. Ezra S. Stearns, A.M., of Concord, N. H.

On the tenth day of November, 1737, at Portsmouth in the province of New Hampshire, two prominent men of the times debated and concluded a contract which incidentally has led to the preservation of the materials for an interesting chapter in the annals of Londonderry. The instrument was styled a charter party, and by the terms of the written agreement, a certain ship was leased for a voyage from the north of Ireland to New England. The contracting parties were Joshua Pierce, Junior, a merchant of ample fortune and liberal education, of the town of Portsmouth, and Robert Boyes, a native of Ireland and for many years an enterprising and honored resident of Londonderry. By the terms of the written agreement made in duplicate and signed on the date above written, Mr. Pierce agrees to send the good ship Lime of 130 tons burden, John Cate, master, to the coast of Ireland. The ship was to sail from Portsmouth on or before the fifteenth day of January, 1738, and all the profits of the outward voyage were reserved by Mr. Pierce. When unladed the ship was to be delivered to Mr. Boyes, either at Port Rush or Greencastle as he might elect. In consideration of £160 Irish money, Mr. Boyes was permitted to lade the ship "with goods, effects and passengers", and then proceed to some port in New England.

Here the contract ends. Had the homeward passage been fortunate we never should have learned of this ancient document nor of the incidents of the voyage. The good ship Lime behaved, it will be seen, very badly, and many misfortunes were encountered by land and by sea. For these reasons Mr. Pierce and Mr. Boyes could not agree concerning the rental of the ship, and unfortunately no doubt, for them, but fortunately for us, a most bitter and hotly contested lawsuit ensued. After the lapse of one hundred and sixty years, through the thoughtful custody of the court, we are permitted to read this ancient contract and so much of the evidence as was reduced to writing in the form of depositions. The papers reveal the fact that Mr. Boyes had made earlier and similar voyages to Ireland for the purpose of conducting a considerable number of waiting emigrants to the thrifty colony of Londonderry. In this voyage Samuel Told, then a merchant of Londonderry and subsequently a resident of Boston, and John Mitchell, a neighbor of Mr. Boyes and the father of John Mitchell who made the celebrated map of the American colonies, were equal partners with Mr. Boyes in the enterprise. The three men were engaged in collecting passengers and freight in Ireland, and all of them were upon the ship on the homeward voyage.

On the 26th day of July, 1733, the good ship Lime with 123 emigrants sailed from the harbor of Port Rush, bound for the port of Boston. Three days after sailing the ship was leaking so badly they made for land and put in at the harbor of Killybegs. Twelve days were consumed in making repairs. They again set sail and again were obliged to make for land, and found safety in the harbor of Galway. The ship was again and more thoroughly repaired, but while detained at Galway, John Cate, the master, died of the small pox, and Matthias Haines, the only mate, was so grievously sick of the same malady he was unable to sail on the homeward voyage. While at Killybegs and Galway, such were the delays and misfortunes, twenty-five passengers deserted the ship. The contractors employed Gabriel Black for master, and one of them, Samuel Todd, was mate on the homeward voyage. They finally sailed from Galway on the nineteenth of September, eight weeks after sailing from Port Rush, and arrived in the harbor of Boston, November 16, 1733.

In a perusal of the papers filed in the case of Pierce vs. Boyes et als., the reader fails not to note that Meshech Weare was foreman of the jury, and that the opposing counsel, "learned in the law", were William Parker for the plaintiff, and Nicholas Peryman and Matthew Livermore for the defendants. In the Inferior Court of Common Pleas the case was heard before the Honorable Richard Waldron, Ephraim Dennet and Nathaniel Rogers. Judge Gerrish for some reason was absent. The case on appeal was before the Superior Court of Judicature several terms, and in the mean time Nicholas Gilman retired from the bench. The court of final hearing consisted of the Honorables Henry Sherburne, Thomas Millet, Elias Huske and Samuel Gilman.

But the reader soon loses sight of the law suit in the story of the voyage as narrated in the depositions and in the lists of names of the emigrants who came to New England in the good ship Lime in the year 1733.

The facts revealed in this old and musty file of court papers are instructive. In this manner was Londonderry founded and made populous. The emigration to America from 1718 to 1750 was largely from the north of Ireland. Londonderry was a wilderness a century after the planting of Dover, Portsmouth, Exeter and Hampton, but so rapid was the growth of the town that in 1763, having parted with Windham, a town of average size, it was exceeded in wealth and population only by Portsmouth. The worthy founders of Londonderry not only invited their countrymen to settle among them, but, as it appears, they even went after them. The papers are of exceeding interest in that they preserve the names of many who came to New England under the direction of Boyes, Todd and Mitchel in the summer of 1733.

We are permitted to read the depositions of fourteen persons who were passengers on the good but leaky ship Lime. The names of five other passengers are incidentally named and the names of the twenty-five who left the ship at Killybegs or Galway are also given.

The passengers were: Thomas Jameson, Nathaniel Furber, George Marshall, William Lues, William Cox, Alexander Nesmith, Abraham Weir, Archibald Fullerton, Alexander Caldwell, William (son of Joseph) Dickey and his wife, David Griffin, Robert Griffin, John Arbuckle, George Robinson, Thomas Galt, George Galt, John Ball, Mary Smith.

The names of those who sailed from Port Rush and left the ship were: John Dods, his wife and daughter; Thomas Boyes, his wife, one son and three daughters; John McConihe, his wife and daughter; Patrick Doroch, Nancy Crawford, Robert Simpson, John Car, Ann Car, William Car, Mark Car, John Car Jr., Mary Beside, Jean Car, Catrina Taggart, Patrick McKillup, Charles McKiel.

The following year Thomas Boyes was in Londonderry, and others in this list are familiar names in the annals of New Hampshire. It is safe to infer that all of the twenty-five who left the ship after sailing from Port Rush came to America without much loss of time. They were of a sturdy, determined race. The place to seek a Scotch Irishman is not where he last was found, but where, on that occasion, he intended to go.

The witnesses were testifying to the same end, and as a matter of course, the depositions are much alike. All are agreed concerning dates and all assert that they sailed from Port Rush with 123 passengers and that 25 subsequently left the ship. No one witness names over 23, but other witnesses give additional names until exactly 25 are named. The term servant refers to those who were articleed to work out the passage money after their arrival in America.

One deposition is transcribed in full:

The Deposition of Messrs. John Arbuckle, Thomas Galt & George Galt, all of full age, Testify & Say that whereas in the month of June last 1733, the Ship Lime, Capt. John Cote, Commander, arrived at Port Rush in the Kingdom of Ireland, hired or Chartered by Messrs Boyes & others as they informed them, and having the Character of their good usage to Passengers in Sundry voyages before Inclined us to come & agree with them for Our Passage altho' we heard almost a General Report that Said Ship was more than ordinary Leaky while She lay at Port Rush aforesaid, upon which as we understood Sundry People were discouraged from agreeing with Said affreightors who Intended to Transport themselves Said Year for New England however we paid our passage to Said Affreightors Entered on board & Sailed from Said Port Rush July the 26th day 1738, having on board about one hundred & twenty three passengers & Servants, this being on Wednesday so we Soon found the truth of what we heard by report before Sailing for on Saturday morning following altho' no Extraordinary hard Gales of wind the water in the Ships hold was over the Ballast a Considerable Height, but whether it was Occasioned through neglect of pumping or any new Leak we are not Certain, but our Ballast being a Sandy Slob Soon Choaked the Pumps which we were obliged to hoist out & get into the well Room & bale with Buckets. We directly Stood in for to make Some harbour not daring to Stand to Sea in Such Condition but not forced to it through any Extremity of weather. Sunday following we got into the harbour of Killybegs in the Evening they got the vessel as far ashore as they could the next day they got a Carpenter & Stop'd Some Leaks as they Say & in Two or three days hauled off again but took nothing out of the vessel here only they tryed to clear the Ships Limber next to the well room but the rest were all Stopped as we Judge & She Continued Loaky after She is off So that in one night was pumped Sixteen or more times which So Discouraged the passengers that Some of them go to Some Justices of the peace in the County & gave Examinations against the vessel as being Insufficient who wrote to the Affreightors to get the Ship ashore So as to be viewed & made Sufficient or get another vessel here was throwed overboard a Considerable quantity of bread Occasioned by the Ships Leakiness as it was Judged.

Here also Run away or went away from us Servants Charles McNeal, John Dods, his wife and daughter, Thomas Boyes, his wife, three daughters & one Son, John McConnie, his wife & Daughter, Patrick Doroch, Nancy Craford, Robert Simpson, all we verily believe were by agreement Indented & Some of them we Saw & heard all of them tell that they were Such & altho' we often heard the affreightors Request and Desire that the Capt Mate & hands might not Suffer them to go ashore otherwise they might Expect to be accountable for what Number went away yet they Did not Notwithstanding the master fearing further Trouble on the Tenth day of August Sailed from Killybegs & So soon as the vessel comes to role the pumps were again Choaked they hoist them out & the Passengers are Obligated to Pump with hardly one hand belonging to the Ship assist them who when asked to help were told by one Rightson, Either to do it or go to hell which they would, the Master again ordered the Ship to Stand in for Gallway. In moderate wind & weather and as we thought fair for our voyage for New England on Monday 14th of August got into Gallway road in the Evening the Master went a Shoar came on board next morning ordered the Ship to a place called New Harbour to be unladed and Searched he went a Shoar again & in Some time was taken Sick of the Small pox & Dyed. The vessel being got into New Harbour in a day or two they hawled her in with Little or nothing taken out of her also her Topmasts an End & Considerable Weight Between Decks & Strained the vessel in her uper Side at two or three Seams one might thrust their hand in & at Return of the Tide the water flowed as high within as without a most part in the Hold that would take Damage by water was Damified. Here the Mate orders the People and their goods a Shore & there Run away Servants belonging to the Freightors John Car, Ann Car, Wm. Car, Mark Car, John Car junior, Mary Reside, Jean Car, Patrick McKillup, Catrina Taggart, being in all twenty-five who are Sure had not money to pay their Passage & therefore undoubtedly were Servants here also we heard the Freightors over & over Desire them to take care of their Servants or they Should be accountable for them.

They further Say that through the Ships Insufficiency puting in again & Delay & mismanagement of those belonging to the Ship was Occasioned all & Sundry of the Difficultys & Losses that happoned after to the affreightors & Passengers that by & through this means was Damified & rendered useless to our Esteem (and as John Arbuckle heard the Mate say) upwards of Three Thousand Weight of Bread That our Water Casques were Exceedingly Damaged by Carrying them over board & Some Stolen & Stove also that the Ships Platform and births for the Passengers that were thereon were torn up & broke to peices also Several Bags or Beds of Feathers So Damified that they were rendered useless & Some Chests of Books or that had books in them Exceedingly Damified also Some Earthen Crocks or Pots of Butter Broken to peices and Sundry other Damages & Losses we Cannot now remember.

They further say that the Ships Timbers & between the Limbers Holds were So Stopped that they were Obliged to dig out the Sand. The said Ballast was Carried or thrown over board here, by the mates orders the Ship was Ballasted with Stones who also was taken Sick of the Small Pox & Carried a Shoar. That Sundry hands of the passengers were by his orders Impleyed about the Ships Business for Several Days who promised Either to pay them as the Custom was there for working on board Ships or if not paid there that they Should be paid when they arrived at New England as the Custom or Rule was there for Said Work. Also that on Sunday following the Mate being Carried ashoar George Fichtson who had assisted to work before in what Capacity we are not sure but heard was to work on board for his passage to New England Carried his Chest & cloaths aShoar & Came no more on board to do any work (& this was before the Capt. Dyed Some Days(but he Came on board with a Water Bailiff to take an account of the Capts things & to Carry them aShoar & a Bale of Diaper.

That after the mates being a Shoar the Ship was left Intirely without Command or order or any to do it or See it done But what the affreighters did for the Ship the Passengers & their own Interest & all things that was got after was by the affreighters both for Ships Provisions Rigging & appurtenances as also for the Passengers Stores & provisions of all sorts.

They further Say that from the time of their Sailing from Port Rush till they got out from Gallway was Eight Weeks to a day. All this time the Passengers & Servants had their weekly allowance as by agreement from Said Freightors; they also say that at New Harbour died the Boatswain & that Hugh Thornton left them that one Bond Commonly known by the name of father Bond had the Small pox here & was Sick & useless all the passage after; there were on board of us after Coming out from Gallway but Eight Mariners in all who did any Labour or duty for the Ship only as the passengers helped Sometimes & a little boy who helped to Cook for the People.

Thomas Galt & George Galt farther Say that George Wrightson (when water in the Hold was like to overflow them) told in their hearing the Ships hands would take the boat & Leave them & they might go to hell or do what they would that also almost Every body at Callway told them if Wrightson came Master with them they never would get to New England & that Every one they could Converse with called him a rogue & that he was so troublesome on board none of the people liked to come if he Came in the Ship
